COLLEGE SEALS ON WHISKEY UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO AND YALE TO FIGHT A DISTILLER.

To Take Steps to Stop the Branding of Whiskey With College Symbols-Chicago Will Use a New Seal if Necessary-Tale to Act in the Matter - Counsel Consulted.

CHECAGO Sept. 23 .- The official seal of the University of Chicago will not appear on whiskey bottles as a trademark, in spite of the efforts of an enterprising manager of a distillery Pennsylvania to secure the right to use it in that way. The trustees of the university, sare Dr. Goodspeed, will resort to the courts for a restraining order, if necessary, to prevent the smirching of the university's good name long enough for a new seal to be devised and extented When this is done the Keystone State distiller will be welcome to the old stamp, opmmercial value will have been destroyed. The last issue of the Patent Office Garatte contained the announcement of a grant authorising the use of the scals of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Lehigh, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Chicago, Oxford and Cambridge as trade marks for whiskey. As none of the seals was patented the heads of the institutions concerned fear that the whiskey distiller will have a better right legally to use them, for business purposes at least, than the colleges themselves and some were at a loss how to proceed. But this indecision is not shared by those who direct the policy of the

That is all President Hadley would say on the subject for the present.

Secretary Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., of the Yale corporation was asked what action was to be taken. He said:

"I do not know the facts of the case well enough to make a positive statement relative to any course Yale will take. The University will, however, zealously guard its rights in the matter of its seal."

Mr. Stokes called attention to the fact that the college's right to the seal was vested in its

Judge Henry B. Stoddard, senior partner of the law firm which has handled all Yale's law business in this city for years, was asked about the case. He said:

"The matter has not come before me officially, and so I don't know what the distiller has really done. Every American college, however, has an exclusive right to its own seal, a right which is worth a high financial value. If that right is invaded, the university can be protected and the courts will issue an injunction for the protection of the college. Of course, it cannot be said what will be done till it is known what representations were made to secure the college seal as a trade tuark."

SHOTS AT A DOG FIGHT.

Loser Shoots the Money Out of the Referee's Hand and Gets Off With It.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23. Because he was not satisfied with the referee's decision at a dog fight at Blue Island last night Joseph Farmer, whose dog was held to be the loser, shot the stake money out of Referee William I. Delihant's hand, took it, and drove away with his brother William. A lot of disgusted men then returned to Chicago, having lost the money they had wagered on the contest. The fight, which took place in Bruno's Place west of the village, had lasted seventeen minutes and was exceedingly savage. It was between "White Brandy," owned by the Farmer Brothers, and "Young Duke," owned by Pat Conroy, Fortieth street and Wentworth avenue, and a half dozen sporting men. "Young Duke" has been considered the champion of the world and those present say this dog seemed to have the better of the fight.

present say this dog seemed to have the better of the fight.

Delihant, who refereed the fight, gave the fight to "Young Duke." Then the trouble began. Joseph Farmer sprang toward him and covered him with a revolver.

"I want that money," he exclaimed. "That kind of a decision don't go with me."

Delihant hesitated and reached for his own revolver. Before he had a chance to draw it Farmer pulled the trigger. The bullet passed through Delihant's hand. The money fell to the floor, and Joseph Farmer and his brother gathered it up in the scramble which followed. The men who were in the room were panic stricken. Some of them jumped from the windows, while others rushed to the door. In the meantime a man named Fisk had reached Delihant's side and struck William Farmer in the face. Joseph Farmer wrested Delihant's revolver from his hands, and with a gun in each hand began to shoot at Fisk. Fisk ran out of the rear door, and as he reached the yard was struck by one of the balls.

The Parmer brothers jumped into a buggy and drove away. The two injured men were taken to Blue Island avenue where Dr. Glim dressed their wounds. Then the entire contingent returned home. The Chicago police have been asked to look for Joseph Farmer.

COMMERCE OF PORTO RICO Great Increase of Trade With the United States

Under the New Tariff Law. WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 .- Four months' operations of the Porto Rican tariff law show an increase of more than 100 per cent, in our exports to that island as compared with the corresponding months of :899, and more than 300 per cent. as compared with the corresponding months of 1897 or 1898. The act went into effect May Dr. Goodspeed was outspoken and emphatio 1, 1900, so that the figures for August, which have just been completed by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, complete the record of an outrage that will not be tolerated under the fourth month of commerce between the island and the United States under the new law. The corresponding four months in 1899 cover a period in which the island was under the American flag, but subject to the customs eign countries. The corresponding four months of 1898 were the war period and do not there-months of 1809, $029,000 worth in 1897, and $358,000 worth in the corresponding months of 1896.

The table which follows shows the imports from, and exports to, the island, in its commerce with the United States, during May, June, July and August of 1806, 1807, 1809 and 1900, respectively, and the total for each period, and thus enables a comparison by months and by the entire period, both with 1809, when the island was under the American flag but subject to the general custom laws of the United States, and with 1896 and 1897, when it was Spanish territory. It will be seen that every month since the enactment of the new law shows a marked increase over 1899 and as till greater increase as compared with 1897 and 1896, while the total imports from the island in the four months of 1900 show an increase of 63 per cent. over 1899 and 174 per cent. over 1897, and the exports show an increase of 128 per cent. over 1890 and 301 per cent. over 1897.

One of the would-be suicides was successful in his attempt. He died half an your after being admitted to the Presbyterian Hospital. He had fired only one bullet. The other man had two bullets in his body, but it was said yesterday afternoon that he would recover, and he was transferred from the Presbyterian Hospital to Bellevue and placed in the prison ward. The suicide proved to be Edward L. Schwarswaldt. It was about 5 o'clock in the morning when Policeman Coogan of the Park squad heard a pistol shot from the direction of the east park wall near Eighty-fifth street. He ran over to investigate and came upon a man lying inside the wall on the grass, bleeding from a hole in the right temple. A cheap revolver was clutched in his hand. An ambulance was hurriedly summoned, but the man was beyond medical aid. The police took charge of his effects. There was a butch of keys, a penknife, a certificate of membership in the Knights of Pythias, a certificate from the Board of Health of Port Rico, showing that he had been properly vaccinated there, and five letters. All of the papers bore the name of Edward L. Schwarzwaldt. Four of the letters were postmarked Porto Rico. The fifth was from Detroit. All of them were addressed to Schwarzwaldt at the Broadway Central Hotel, but one had been forwarded from the hotel to sie Bast Eighty-sixth street. One of the Porto Rico letters was signed by A. C. Steele. The man had neither mones nor jewery. The letters were business communications.

At the Broadway Central Hotel it was said that Schwarzwaldt had never stayed at the hotel, but that he had received a great deal of mail there until he was informed a month ago that the hotel people preferred that his mail be sent to some other place. He then sent word to the hotel to forward his mail to 319 Kast Eighty-sixth street and the only letter that had come to the hotel after that notice had been sent to that address.

A. Newman of Pittsburg called with his wife at the Presbyterian Hospital last night and dentified the body as Schwarzwaldt's cousin and asked that the body be held at the hospital till to-day when he would take charge of it. Mr. Newman said that he did not know much about Schwarzwaldt was hout so from the head. The cher man with designs on his life made his attempt at 530 o clock near Fifth avenue and Sixtieth street. Must Have Hung Himself in the Woods on July 7-Identified by Employer.

Charles D. Butt of 224 Grand avenue, Brooklyn. a provision dealer at the Wallabout Market, identified yesterday the clothing on the man who was found hanging in the woods near Ocean avenue, Sheepshead Bay, on Saturday as the property of Herman Tietjen, a driver, who had been in his employ. On July 7 Tietjen left Butt's store with about $55 worth of goods to deliver in Manhattan. The goods were to be delivered C. O. D. That afternoon at 3 o'clock the horse and delivery wagon were at 3 o'clock the horse and delivery wagon were found by the police at Flatbush and Seventh avenues, where they had been deserted by Tletjen. A general slarm was sent out by the police for Tietjen, but nothing was heard from him until his body was found on Saturday.

"I understand," said Mr. Butt yesterday, "that Tietjen had been drinking for a couple of wasks, before he disappeared, but he was also. "that Tietjen had been drinking for a couple of weeks before he disappeared, but he was always in good enough shape to do his work for me. I know of no reason why he should have committed suicide, except that he felt that he had made a failure of his life. He left a letter addressed to me, saying that he had come to the conclusion that he could not get ahead in this world and that it was time for him to bid good-by to all he loved and cared for. I believe that he spent some of the $55 that he had collected that day, and that he knew that if he returned to my store without the money I would never let him take out a wagon again. I think that he went straight to the woods and hanged himself. There was $12.60 in the pockets of his clothing when the body was discovered, and that means that he was short a little more than $40 in his accounts with me."

TIED HIMSELF UP TO DROWN. Old Magnus Svenson's Body Found in the North River.

The body of an old man was found in the North River at the foot of Forty-ninth street yesterday afternoon and was towed ashore. The man's hands were curiously bound. A fishline had been passed through the air holes of his derby hat, and one end had been tied to the left wrist. The man had then tied the other end of the line to his right wrist, and by taking turns in the line with both arms had drawn the hat down over his ears and had pulled his arms so that they were held by the taut line close against his breast. It is supposed that he tied himself so that when he iumped into the river he would be unable to struggle. The body was identified as that of C. Magnus Svenson, a carpenter, 70 years old and homeless. Svenson had been employed in a carpenter shop at Filty-fourth street and North River up to four months ago and since that time had been picking up a living as best he could. Last Tuesday he told another carpenter, Charles Pistrom of 202 West Sixty-seventh street, that he was ill and in great pain, and that if he did not soon feel better he would jump into the river. He stayed at Pistrom's that night. the left wrist. The man had then tied the other

THE JEWISH NEW YEAR.

Solemn Ceremonies Mark the Beginning of 5661-Synagogues Crowded. The Jewish New Year or the feast of Rosh Hoshanah was ushered in at sunset last evening with all due solemnity. It is the beginning of the Jewish year 5661, and the lower East Side, where most of the orthodox Hebrews live, took on a most of the orthodox Hebrews live, took on a sombre air last night. Every synagogue was crowded to the doors and temporary places of worship were established all over the district in halls and vacant stores. The three Hebrew theatres on the Bowery were also converted into synagogues and in each of them every seat was occupied.

The services commenced at 7 o'clock and continued until 1 o'clock this morning. They will be resumed again at 8 o'clock this morning and continue most of the day. In the orthodox synagogues the services will consist principally of the reading of the Scriptures by the rabbis and of responses by the congregation. In the Reformed synagogues music and sermons by the rabbis will be added.

Rosh Hoshanah will continue to-day and to-morrow. Then after an interval of seven days comes Yom Kippur, or the Day of At nement, the most solemn feast in the Jewish faith. This is followed by the Feast of Tabernacles, the Feast of the Assembly and the Rejoicing of the Law. Business on the East Side will be almost entirely suspended to-day and every one who can afford it will appear in brand-new clothes.

The organization is the Young Men's National Union. It is to be represented at the Brooklyn convention by delegates from almost every convention by delegates from almost every State in the Union. The sessions, which are to be held in the Park Theatre, will be presided over by the Rev. Dr. Francis H. Wall, rector of the Church of the Holy Rosary in Fast 119th street, who is president of the National Union. It is expected that Dr. Wall, throself an earnest advocate of Catholic federation, will advise the delegates to indorse the project as laid down by Bishop McFaul of Trenten. A large number of priests from Manhattan and Brooklyn are to participate in the deliberations of the convention. Manhatten and Brooklyn are to participate in the deliberations of the convention.

The convention is to open to-morrow morning with a high mass in St. Jame's Pro-Cathedral in Jay street, which all the delegates will attend. The celebrant will be Vicar General McNamara. The addresses will be delivered by the Rev. John L. Bedford, rector of Sts. Peter and Faul's Church. After the mass the delegates will go to the convention hall in the Park Theatre, where an address of welcome will be delivered by Edward M. Grout, President of the borough of Brooklyn. The reply on the behalf of the delegates will be made by Father Wall.

College for Missionary Priests.

A plan is under consideration for the establishment of a college, the purpose of which will be to educate Roman Catholic priests in this country for work in foreign missions. No such institution exists in the United States. Hitherto the energies of the Church in America have been necessarily devoted to its own organization and no thought has ever arisen of entering upon any work outside of the boundaries of the United States. The recent awakening of the missionary suiri, under the direction of the Catholic Missionary Union, has incited the idea of an entrance on the foreign field. Archbishop Corrigan is most favorably disposed toward the movement, and it is likely that if a college is decided upon the institution will be established within this archdiocese or somewhere else in the New York province. The buildings formerly occupied by the students in St. Joseph's Seminary in Troy, N. Y., which were given up when the new St. Joseph's at Yonkers was completed, have been mentioned as the possible home of the new college. such institution exists in the United States.

AXE TO KILL HIS DAUGHTER

SLEEPING GIRL'S HEAD BATTERED BY HER FATHER.

e Cannot Recover-Father Held for At-tempted Murder-He Has Been an Invalid for Years and Recently Has Acted Queerly -Says He Doesn't Remember the Assault

Frederick Schmidt tried to murder his foureen-year-old daughter Emily yesterday morning at his home, 1002 Second avenue, by hitting her on the head with a hatchet and fracturing her skull. He attacked the girl while she lay asleep in her room. Her condition was so serious last night that Coroner Zucca went to the house and took her ante-mortem statement.

Schmidt has been an invalid for the last four years, suffering from an incurable disease. Two years ago his left leg was amputated. and he has not left the house since. His children supported the household. Emily helped with the housework and waited on her father. Recently he became cranky, finding fault with everybody he became cranky, finding fault with everybody around the house, but making the girl the butt of his abuse. She usually took the abuse good-naturedly, but sometimes she would make a sharp reply. Last Saturday Schmidt was especially cranky, and everything the girl tried to do for him seemed to irritate him. He didn't pay any attention to the other members of the household.

The family went to bed at the usual time on Saturday night, the girl occupying a room adjoining her father's, so she could wait on him in case he called. About 4 o'clock in the morning her acreams aroused Mrs. Schmidt and the other members of the family. Mrs. Schmidt rushed into the bedroom just in time to grab Schmidt's arm as he was about to strike Emily a second time. The hatchet was wrenched from his grasp and a policeman was summoned and he took Schmidt to the police station and looked him up. and he took Schmidt to the police station and locked him up.

The family physician considered Emily's condition so serious that he would not permit her to be removed to a hospital. Schmidt was taken later before Magistrate Hogan in the Harlem police court. He said he had no recollection of assaulting his daughter. The first he knew of the assault was seeing the blood on her face. He couldn't tell how he got the hatchet. He was held without bail to await the result of the girl's inluries. It was said that she could not live.

The injured girl, when Coroner Zucca questioned her, could only tell him that she was awakened by the blow on the head and saw her father standing beside her with the hatchet.

THE SAMUEL M. PRINGLE MEMORIAL $250,000 to Establish a Home for Aged Men

Who Have Had and Lost Fortunes. POUGHKEEPSIE. Sept. 28 .- It is proposed to establish in the heart of the handsomest residence section in Poughkeepsie, a home for old men who have had and lost fortunes. This eties is to be the leading topic, will be held in novel proposition is made by Richard B. Ferris. for half a century Vice-President of the Bank of New York, upon whom devolves the administration of a trust fund of $250,000 eatablished by the late Samuel M. Pringle for the erection and maintenance of a Pringle Me-erection and maintenance of a Pringle Memorial Home for Aged Men. Samuel M. Pringle was for forty-one years register and teller of the Bauk of New York. He succeeded his father, Thomas Pringle, who was teller of the same bank for forty years.

Mr. Ferris has been negotiatingt for a week past for the purchase of the mansion on Academy street erected by the late Oliver T. Board at a cost of $75,000, the furnishing of which cost an additional $40,000. A New York lawyer named, Williams, who was here recently looking up the title to the Beard property, talked freely of the scheme to locate the home in Pough-keepsic and informed some of his acquaintances that the sale had been practically agreed upon. The Beard property is only a short distance from the fine residence properties of James W. Hinckley, former chalman of the Democratic State Committee, and I. R. Adriance, William A. Adriance and Sflas Wodell of the firm of Adriance, Platt & Co., the mower and reaper manufacturers.

JEALOUS YOUTH WITH A PISTOL. It She Had Him Locked Up.

Albert Cantwell 21 years old, of 52 Manhattan street, was looked up in the West 125th street police station last night on the complaint of Kate Healey of 499 West 124th street, who accused him of threatening to kill her and flourishing a revolver in her face. The Healey girl said that she and young Cantwell had been good friends until recently, when he began to think that he was jealous and that she began to think that he was jealous and that she was cool.

"He thinks it's the fashion for kids like him to shoot girls and make fools of themselves and think they are real romanite," the girl said to the sergeant. "He hung around my house to-night and when I came out grabbed me and put the revolver in my face, But he didn't shoot. He just said he would fix me next time and then I broke away."

Young Cantwell was locked up on an ordinary charge of disorderly conduct. He bad a rusty revolver minus the cartridge chamber.
